Europcar UK, a subsidiary of Europcar Group, the European leader in vehicle rental services and a major player in mobility markets, has successfully achieved the Investors in People (IIP) accreditation at Platinum award level for its station network. This accreditation recognises adherence to the new and more demanding framework for IIP assessment, making Europcar one of only 15 companies in the UK to achieve the new Platinum level.

The assessment process comprised an online survey and one-to-one interviews with a number of colleagues across Europcar's UK operations. The company was commended for its extremely supportive and nurturing management attitudes, as well as positive interaction between colleagues across the business.

"This is an incredible achievement and demonstrates the high level of commitment Europcar has towards its people", said Gary Smith, Managing Director, Europcar UK Group. "Our goal is to ensure our people are engaged and passionate about the business and supported through their careers.

"As one of just 15 companies to achieve the Platinum level, Europcar stands out as a best in class employer and delivering best class customer service. This is a clear recognition of our excellence and focus on improvement at all levels of the organisation, helping us continue to meet the highest standards."

IIP assessor, Lisa Toohey, commented on Europcar's final report: "This assessment demonstrates an excellent illustration of the Investors in People principles resulting in the outcome of accreditation at the Platinum level of the standard. This outcome is well deserved and the organisation should be proud of the way it has maintained the current level of engagement of its people."
